140TH ANNIVERSARY OF FR. SEELOS' DEATH

SATURDAY AFTERNOON, OCT. 5, 1867

SUNDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 6, 1867

DEATH OF A CATHOLIC PRIEST. – The Rev. Father [S]EELOS, of St. Mary's German Church, Fourth District, succumbed, yesterday, to the prevailing epidemic, after a long and severe struggle. A solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated at 8 o'clock this morning in the church of the deceased. Solemn funeral obsequies will take place at 3 o'clock this afternoon. There is no need to tell how a good priest, and he a Redemptorist, takes his final leave of this scene. So we will only add that the beloved Father Seelos was an ornament even to his order. No one could look upon him, especially when at the altar or in the pulpit, without feeling that there was immeasurably more of Heaven than earth about this devout servant of Christ. The few who knew him – the Redemptorists have no time for mixing with the world – and the many who sought his spiritual guidance knew that his only human weakness was his overflowing sympathy and charity for poor erring humanity. Requiescat in pace.

V

DEATH OF REV. FATHER [S]EELOS. – The profession of a clergyman is the noblest of all employments. The physician heals the body but the divine brings comfort to the soul, when the physician has exhausted the resources of his mind in battling with "the last enemy" and surrenders to the conqueror. Just as it is disgraceful in a soldier to manifest cowardice in the presence of the foe, so must the clergyman stand in "the imminent deadly breach." The "business" of the soldier is to die – that of a divine is to leave himself in the hands of a wise and kind Providence, knowing he will order all things as "seemeth unto him good."

There are many self-sacrificing soldiers of the cross in this deeply afflicted community, and none were more devoted to their calling than the godly man who has just been removed in the midst of his usefulness to the reward prepared for the righteous. He has fallen in the fight, with his armor on, and gone to the Master whom he so faithfully followed, to receive the plaudit, "Well done, good and faithful servant."

Message from the Editor

It is said in jest that the reason crime doesn't pay is because it gets you involved with lawyers! Likewise, on one particular occasion, criminal activity did not pay when it involved Fr. Seelos as a target! In 1865 he had no choice but to sit next to a pickpocket on a train from Cleveland to Toledo. Upon taking his seat, Fr. Seelos was already wary of the man, so he put his traveling money in his breast pocket and only his baggage claim in his side pocket. While Fr. Seelos was asleep, the pickpocket cut open his overcoat from the side and took his wallet, thinking it contained the money. When Fr. Seelos eventually felt a big hole in his pocket, he did not want to be detained in Toledo where the train for Detroit was waiting and ready to leave. Fr. Seelos had to quickly convince the baggage clerk that the luggage he pointed out was his, so as to barely make his connection.

The journey from Jerusalem to Jericho was notoriously dangerous because of bandits. When Jesus told the story of the Good Samaritan (LK 10:25-37), he was making a connection to his listeners who could relate to the possibility of being robbed on that road. Listeners of the story would have also expected the arrival of the Samaritan to be a villain, because of their hatred toward the Samaritan people. Jesus' surprise ending about a "good Samaritan" was intended for those who needed convincing that there are some redeeming qualities in everyone.

Moreover, the priest and the Levite in the story were presumably moved to pity for the wounded man, but they did nothing. Compassion leads to action! When a teacher asked a little girl in catechism class why she thought the priest in the Good Samaritan story passed by on the other side, she replied, "Because the man lying by the road had already been robbed." Now, that's a surprise ending!

Father Seelos was a priest of the Catholic Church, attached to St. Mary's Church, in this city. Broken down by arduous labor, he was an easy prey to the epidemic now prevailing here. It is no respecter of persons, and could not have selected a more shining mark than this excellent man. Father Seelos died on Friday, and was followed to the grave yesterday by a sorrowing flock. He has left behind him a name fragrant with the good deeds of a useful life.

DID YOU KNOW?

Archbishop Amleto Giovanni Cicognani, Apostolic Delegate to the United States, published a book in 1939 entitled Sanctity in America. The book presents 17 notable figures of the American Church & their status in regard to canonization. Chapter 10 (pp. 92-96) was devoted to Father Seelos.

"In October 2000, the remains of Father Seelos were exhumed ... and carried to the cathedral for a repeat of his funeral, this time with the archbishop as principal celebrant. He was taken back, with a police escort that he did not have at his first funeral, to St. Mary's Church where, it is hoped, he will rest in peace without being dug up again. The old Latin Mass for the dead, which was used at Father Seelos's first funeral in 1867, begins Requiem aeternam dona ei Domine, "Lord, give him eternal rest." One hopes the saint will now be allowed to rest in his grave in peace."

"Do not lose courage, but continue until you see prepared the crown for those blessed souls who have their Spouse in heaven and who will enjoy spousal love in heaven forever at the great wedding feast."
-- Francis Xavier Seelos, 1857

TESTIMONIALS

raceland, LA

I write in thanksgiving to God & Fr. Seelos that my life was spared when I crashed my car into a utility pole. I first heard about Fr. Seelos when I had surgery in 1971. A friend of mine gave me a book and prayer card of Fr. Seelos. I wear a Fr. Seelos medal on me at all times. I am sure God and Fr. Seelos were there to help me.

I recently had a routine mammogram that showed the need for further evaluation. At my age of 43, I was praying for it all to be okay & it was, with just two simple nodules and no sign of anything more. I cannot tell you the enormous relief I felt hearing that all tests were normal. I was very blessed to have been given a card with a piece of cloth touched to the relic of Fr. Seelos & I carry it with me always. I thank Fr. Seelos from the bottom of my heart & I will continue to pray to him in the future.

I am 70 years old and was diagnosed in 2006 with inoperable lung cancer in both lungs. After my diagnosis, my niece mentioned Fr. Seelos and how she prayed to him during her father's illness. Soon after, a friend brought me a relic and I began carrying it with me through all the procedures. In January 2007 I started six treatments of chemo that were scheduled every 21 days. I also attended the Seelos Birthday Mass and received the blessing with Fr. Seelos' old missionary cross. I immediately started praying the Fr. Seelos Novena, which gave me a feeling of peace, and I wore a Seelos medal. After my third chemo treatment, the doctor gave me the wonderful news that my CT scan showed no trace of tumors in either lung. I had tears of happiness. It crossed my mind immediately that Fr. Seelos answered my prayers. I am six months in remission and will continue to wear his medal indefinitely. Just wearing it gives me a good feeling, and I often touch it at some point during the day, with a silent "I love you." I would like to thank Fr. Seelos and God for this was a miracle granted through Fr. Seelos' intercession.

Excerpt from the Pittsburgh Tribune-Review, 8/12/07 by JoAnne Klimovich Harrop:

Upper St. Clair football player Grant Serdy lay in a hospital bed, an IV in his arm, his WPIAL gold medal hanging from the pole holding the fluids dripping in his body, keeping him alive. It was seven days before his teammates would play for the PIAA title. Serdy had a fever and was unable to keep food down, and he was not sure he would get out in time for the game. Tests were inconclusive. He eventually did recover and made it to the title game in Hershey, but he was unable to play even one down. He was too weak to stand while wearing his helmet. Barb and Rich Serdy watched their son's condition weaken from not eating while his temperature rose to 105. Serdy was admitted to St. Clair Hospital and wasn't allowed to have visitors, other than his parents. Doctors weren't sure if his condition was contagious. Meanwhile, people prayed for Grant's recovery, and soon after his girlfriend brought a medal of Father Seelos, who is up for sainthood, the fever started to come down.

I was not familiar with Blessed Seelos until a woman approached me after Mass and handed me a prayer card & 1st class relic of Fr. Seelos, when she heard that I was having surgery. I did my holy hour after Mass that day and sat before the Blessed Sacrament & prayed the Seelos prayer with the relic in my hand. I felt great peace and anxiety left me. I had been in atrial fibrillation since last December and no medication had worked in controlling my heart rhythm. When I checked into the hospital, I had the relic with me & I placed it on my chest and prayed while I was waiting for surgery. They stopped my heart & restarted it and I have been fine since then. I am praying in thanksgiving for Bl. Seelos' intercessions.
